Data users should take all practicable steps to ensure:

- the accuracy of the personal data

If a data processor is engaged to process personal data, the data user must adopt contractual or other means to prevent the personal data from being kept longer than is necessary

Case Sharing: Invalid address reported by the customer

Background:

The complainant was a customer of an insurance company. He was dissatisfied that after he had made a change of address request to the company, the insurance company still issued a letter to his invalid address to confirm the said request.

The insurance company stated:

- Usual practice to confirm customers' change of address requests by sending letters to both the new and former addresses
- Such practice was designed for fraud prevention and avoiding change of address requests being made by third parties without the knowledge of the customers.

27

Case Sharing: Invalid address reported by the customer

After the PCPD's intervention:

- The insurance company revised its practice
- Whenever it received address update requests, instead of using the former addresses, the insurance company would contact the customers by other means, such as SMS to confirm the requests.
- The insurance company undertook not to issue letter to the complainant's former address.

28

Case Sharing: Data Retention

Background :

- A telecommunications company's inactive database had been intruded which caused leakage of personal data of about 380,000 customers and service applicants.
- After the incident had come to light, the company decided to shorten the retention period of personal data of former customers whose accounts had been closed and cleared from three years to six months.
- The database should have been deleted after a system migration, but was nevertheless retained and remained connected to internal network.
- The company failed to give due consideration to the retention period of former customers' personal data or provide relevant internal guidance.

29

Case Sharing: Data Retention

PCPD's recommendation :

- devise clear procedures to specify the steps, time limits and monitoring measures for deleting personal data in obsolete database(s) after system migration;
- devise a clear data retention policy to specify the retention period(s) of personal data of customers and service applicants, which is no longer than is necessary for the fulfillment of the purpose;
- erase all the personal data of customers and service applicants which is retained longer than the retention period(s) as specified in the data retention policy devised.
- devise a clear data security policy to cover regular review of user privileges and security controls of remote access service; and
- implement effective measures to ensure that the policies and procedures would be expressly informed to relevant staff members and effectively executed.

30

DPP3: Use of Personal Data

- Personal data shall not, without the prescribed consent of the data subject, be used for a new purpose

New purpose

any purpose other than the purposes for which they were collected or directly related purposes

Wrongful Use of Personal Data

- making direct marketing approaches, e.g. offering services and goods of the employers
- transferring the job applicants' data to third parties for business or other purposes
- using the interview records, e.g. video recordings for training purposes
- using the applicants' data for statistics or research purposes without erasure of personally identifying particulars

Case Sharing: Disclosure of Personal Data

- The Complainant was an executive staff of an academic department and the secretary of a specific management committee in a university
- The Complainant needed to report to the head of department and the head also acted as the chairman of the Committee
- The head sent a warning email to the Complainant and, without the Complainant's consent, copied the full contents of the warning email to all members of the Committee

Case Sharing: Disclosure of Personal Data

Explanation by the University:

- one of the purviews of the Committee was to give advice on “deployment of human and other resources”
- disclosure of the warning email enabled the Committee members to ascertain the deficiency found on the Complainant's work performance

Case Sharing: Disclosure of Personal Data

Findings:

- There was insufficient evidence indicating that the Committee members were empowered to review the work performance of the Complainant
- The Complainant's supervisor mere forwarded the warning email to the Committee members without requesting the recipients to render their advice and views on the Complainant's performance
- The university's disclosure of the warning email to the members of the Committee was not on a "need-to-know" basis and hence contravened the requirements of DPP3

DPP4: Security of Personal Data

DPP4(1): all practicable steps should be taken to protect personal data from unauthorised/accidental access, processing, erasure, loss/use

- ✓ physical location where the data is stored
- ✓ any security measures incorporated into any equipment in which the data is stored
- ✓ any measures taken for ensuring secure transmission of the data

DPP4: Security of Personal Data

DPP4(2): if a data processor is engaged to process personal data, data user must use contractual/other means to ensure that the personal data transferred to the data processor is protected against unauthorized/accidental access, processing, erasure, loss/use

Data Breach – Common Categories

Cyber attack or hacking

Misconfiguration
of systems

Loss of documents or portable devices

Improper/wrongful disposal of personal data

Errors with posts or emails

Staff misconduct

Case Sharing : Inadvertent disclosure of students' personal data via email by a university

Background

- A faculty staff member intended to email the faculty's non-local students about the university's quarantine arrangements. However, when retrieving the email addresses of the non-local students from the faculty's master list of students, the staff member mistakenly attached the master list in the email
- The master list contained names, dates of birth, nationalities, email addresses, correspondence addresses and contact numbers of about 2,500 students of the faculty. As a result, the personal data was unnecessarily disclosed to the recipients of the email concerned
- The university reported the incident to the PCPD

39

Case Sharing : Inadvertent disclosure of students' personal data via email by a university

Remedial Measures

- The university now requires all outbound emails containing personal data be checked by another staff member before they are sent
- Work files containing personal data must be encrypted

40

Case Sharing : Inadvertent disclosure of students' personal data via email by a university

Lesson Learnt

- Universities possess a large volume of students' personal data and should therefore take reasonably practicable measures to ensure that staff handling such data are properly trained
- Staff should observe relevant personal data privacy policies and exercise due diligence in applying those policies
- Universities should establish procedures to ensure staff's compliance with those policies

41

Case Sharing: Cyberattack

- A company reported that its computer systems and file servers had been attacked by ransomware and maliciously encrypted. A hacker group had demanded a ransom payment from the company to unlock the encrypted files. The Incident resulted in the leakage of the personal data of more than 13,000 data subjects, about 40% of whom were unsuccessful job applicants and former employees.

The Incident was caused by the following deficiencies:

1. Lack of effective detection measures in its information systems
2. Failure to enable multi-factor authentication for remote access to data
3. Insufficient security audits of the information systems
4. Lack of specificity in the information security policy
5. Unnecessary retention of personal data

Case Sharing: Improper Password Management

- An educational institution reported to the PCPD that a hacker had acquired the administrator password of its information management system through a brute force attack and created a new account with administrative rights to access the personal data stored in it.
- The incident affected the personal data of more than 24,000 parent and student users. Investigation revealed that the incident was due to improper password management, which failed to protect the administrator account in accordance with industry best practices.

Remedial measures:

1. two-factor authentication for its information management system to provide an additional layer of protection for system accounts
2. strong passwords
3. regular purging of unnecessary accounts
4. enhanced training programme to raise employees' awareness of data privacy protection.

43

Guidance on Direct Marketing

PART 1: Introduction

Purpose of guidance

1.1 Direct marketing is a common business practice in Hong Kong. It often involves collection and use of personal data by an organization for direct marketing itself and in some cases, the provision of such data by the organization to another person for use in direct marketing. In the process, compliance with the requirements under the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance (the "Ordinance") is essential. This document is issued by the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data (the "Commissioner") to provide practical guidance on data users' compliance with the new regulatory requirements for direct marketing under the new Part VIA of the Ordinance¹. It helps data users to fully understand their obligations as well as to promote good practice. Data users should also make reference to other laws, regulations, guidelines and codes of practice that are relevant for direct marketing purposes insofar as they are not inconsistent with the requirements under the Ordinance.

1.2 This Guidance shall take effect on the same date as the date of commencement of Part VIA of the Ordinance (the "commencement date"). It will supersede and replace the Commissioner's "Guidance on the Collection and Use of Personal Data in Direct Marketing" issued in November 2012. For the avoidance of doubt, until Part VIA of the Ordinance takes effect, the Commissioner's "Guidance on the Collection and Use of Personal Data in Direct Marketing" remains fully valid.

What is "direct marketing"?

1.3 The Ordinance does not regulate all types of direct marketing activities. It defines "direct marketing" as:

(a) the offering, or advertising of the availability, of goods, facilities or services; or

(b) the solicitation of donations or contributions for charitable, cultural, philanthropic, recreational, political or other purposes.

through direct marketing means.²

"Direct marketing means" is further defined to mean:

(a) sending information or goods, addressed to specific persons by name, by mail, fax, electronic mail or other means of communication; or

(b) making telephone calls to specific persons.

1.4 Hence, "direct marketing" under the Ordinance does not include unsolicited business electronic messages sent to telephones, fax machines or email addresses without addressing to specific persons by name and person-to-person calls being made to phone numbers randomly generated³.

1 The new Part VI A under the Ordinance was introduced by the Personal Data (Privacy) (Amendment) Ordinance 2012, it will take effect on 3 April 2013.
2 Section 33A(1).
3 Please refer to the Unsolicited Electronic Messages Ordinance (Cap. 393, Laws of Hong Kong, enforced by the Office of the Communications Authority.
